SCHEDULING ORDER

At Wilmington this 17th day of April 2007, the parties having satisfied their obligations under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f), and the court having conducted a pretrial scheduling conference pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 16 and D. Del. LR 16.2(a) and (b).

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. Limited Discovery Prior to May 8, 2007. Prior to May 8, 2007, neither party may propound any written discovery or notice any depositions while the parties attempt in good faith to settle the pending litigation. Prior to March 30, 2007, HP will provide Polaroid with technical information which will enable Polaroid to further investigate its allegations of infringement, including the source code relative to the algorithms used for image enhancement, and summary sales information which will assist the parties in their attempt to settle this litigation. If, during this period of limited discovery, Polaroid believes in good faith that it needs additional information from HP in order to fully assess the possible settlement of this matter, Polaroid will make any such request prior to April 15, 2007, in writing to HP's outside counsel, and HP will endeavor in good faith to provide said additional materials prior to April 30, 2007.

All HP materials provided during this limited discovery period will be provided subject to an executed protective order in this case.

On May 7 and/or May 8, 2007, the parties will meet and confer to further discuss the scope of discovery moving forward in the case in light of the settlement discussions to date, as well as Polaroid's investigation of its infringement contentions to date. Should the parties believe that the limited discovery period should be extended in order to further effectuate settlement discussions, the parties may agree to the modification of this order, subject to Court approval, to so memorialize said extension.

2. Pre-Discovery Disclosures. The parties will exchange by May 15, 2007 the information required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a) (1) and D. Del. LR 16.2. In addition, by May 15, 2007, the parties shall exchange the following e-discovery information:

- A list of the most likely custodians of electronically stored information, including a brief description of each person's title and responsibilities;
- A summary of the relevant electronic systems that have been in place during the relevant time period of this litigation, as well as whether each of these systems is easily accessible;
- The name of the individual responsible for retention of the party's electronically stored information; and
- The name of the individual who shall serve as that party's liaison for e-discovery.

3. Discovery.

(a) Discovery will be needed on the following subjects:

- Ownership of the '381 patent
- Whether or not the accused HP products infringe the asserted claims of the '381 patent
- Whether the claims of the '381 patent are valid or invalid
- The conception, reduction to practice, and diligence in reduction to practice in the claimed inventions of the '381 patent

- The preparation and prosecution of the patent application that issued as the '381 patent
- Whether the '381 patent is enforceable or unenforceable
- The extent of Polaroid's damages and any limitations to such damages
- Relevant patent licensing policies and practices of the parties and relevant patent license agreements entered into by either Polaroid or HP
- Whether or not HP's conduct was willful
- Additional issues that may arise through the ordinary course of discovery

(b) All fact discovery shall be commenced in time to be completed by February 1, 2008.

(1) Document production shall be completed on or before August 31, 2007. The parties are required to supplement their production after this date consistent with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(e). Privilege logs will be exchanged by August 31, 2007.

(2) Maximum of 25 interrogatories by each party to any other party.

(3) In the absence of agreement among the parties, contention interrogatories, if served, shall first be addressed by the party with the burden of proof no later than the date established for the completion of document production, with the responsive answers due within thirty (30) days thereof. The adequacy of all such interrogatory answers shall be judged by the level of detail each party provides; i.e., the more detail a party provides, the more detail a party shall receive.

(4) Maximum of 33 requests for admission by each party to any other party.

(5) In the absence of agreement among the parties or by order of the court, no deposition (other than those noticed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(b) (6)) shall be scheduled prior to the completion of document production.

(6) Maximum of 75 hours for fact depositions, including any 30(b)(6) depositions and any third-party depositions. Within two weeks of the end of the document production period, each party will identify two witnesses who each may be deposed in their individual capacity for up to ten hours. Except for those identified witnesses, all fact depositions noticed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(b)(1) shall be limited to seven hours. In addition, to the extent a translator is needed for any deposition, that deposition may last up to fourteen hours, but only one-half of the time spent at the deposition will count against the 75 hour limit. For example, if a deposition with an interpreter is needed and is taken and lasts fourteen hours, only seven hours will be deducted from the 75 hour limit.

(c) Expert discovery shall be commenced in time to be completed by April 30, 2008.

(1) Expert reports on issues for which the parties have the burden of proof due February 29, 2008. Rebuttal expert reports due March 28, 2008. Draft expert reports will not be discoverable, nor will communications between an expert and counsel regarding the substance of the expert's opinion be discoverable, unless the expert relied on the communication in reaching his opinion.
